To Whom It May Concern:

Karta Iglesias has shown himself to be an exceptionally mature, motivated and intellectually capable individual. During the last five years, he has assimilated many diversified electronic/computer sound-generating hardware and software networks as useful compositional tools. He has unselfishly assisted with all phases of the design and construction of two complex acoustical environments. This altruism has been consistently extended to fellow students in the form of effective tutoring and general studio assistance.

Sincerely,
